Inland Travel

Many of the farmers from the interior of the State who haul their produce to the Willamette river for a market, complain of the bad condition of the highways at the most important season of the year—just when their produce is ready for transportation There is generally too good ground for these complaints, but we do not see how the roads are to be improved unless the commissioners of the several counties in which the bad roads are located are invested with the authority and disposition to compel prompt and effectual repairs It would be economy for the citizens generally, without regard to ownership of real or personal property, to put their hands in their pockets and pay at once for all the needed road improvements A contribution once made in this way, and appropriated to this end, would conclude the matter and save the enormous tax paid annually by each consumer in the high price of produce—increased quite one hundred per cent by the difficulty of getting it over the public highways The farmer demands a price for every article he brings to market sufficient to pay not only his farm labor, but also for all the subsequent annoyance to which he is subjected by reason of bad roads He leaves home with but half a load for his team, and it costs more time and labor to reach a market than it would with a full load if the travel was as it should be The consumer thus has the additional freight to pay, without a particle of benefit accruing therefrom to any person

Bad roads belong to an effete civilization—not to the steam and electric period in which we live There are few things which tend so effectually to retard the settlement of an agricultural region as the difficulty of getting produce to market Among the first acts of a sensible pioneer, is the cutting of the build a road from his dwelling so as to make it accessible We should now be far in advance of our mental developments, and encourage our farmers to raise crops by helping them to get them to market so that they can compete with producers abroad Until some active measures are adopted for the relief or encouragement of the farmer, we must not [illegible] the high prices and limited supply [illegible] production

REVISED MAIL ARRANGEMENTS —We are informed by C M. Carter, Esq, Special Mail Agent, that the U S Mails are now running from Portland through to Olympia without interruption at Monticello The new schedule time, just received from the Department, requires the contractor to wait until one o'clock P M,—the boat arriving at noon —instead of leaving at 7 A M, as heretofore The mail has for some months past laid over at Monticello one trip of the stage, so that it was just one mail behind We congratulate our Washington Territory subscribers upon this essential change, whereby we shall be able henceforth to keep them promptly and fully informed of the most interesting matters transpiring in all parts of the world. We hope the irregular mail arrangements by which they have been so long and systematically victimized will be known henceforth only as matter of history, and that we can chat with them without let or hindrance every other day at least

DAILY STATESMAN —The first number of the Daily Oregon Statesman came to hand last evening It is a well conducted and neat appearing sheet, the size of the Dalles Mountaineer We wish it all prosperity

The exports of wool from California for the first six months of the present year amounted to 7,289 bales—a thousand bales less than were exported during the same period last year

The steam saw-mill of Forsyth, Patterson & Co, at Salem, recently burned, is again in successful operation Most of the old machinery was used in reconstructing the mill

The postal service for California costs about $350,000 per annum, and it yields a revenue of some $150,000 Loss to the Government, say $70,000 a year

The steamer Relief makes her last trip to Salem to day, returning to Canemah to morrow The Willamette has been very low for some time, and the Relief ran aground during one of her late trips and was disabled so that the freight had to be removed —Daily States man

ACCIDENT —The steamer Yakima, on her downward trip yesterday ran aground at Columbus, and remained in that condition at last accounts Her passengers were transferred to the Nez Perce Chief and brought to Celilo It is expected that the Yakima will be got off without damage — Mountaineer

ATLANTA —An intelligent Northern gentleman who has had opportunities of observation for the last two years, writes to the Chicago Tribune concerning Atlanta and the character of the surrounding country

As seen from Stone Mountain a distance of from 15 to 18 miles northeast, Atlanta appears situated upon a large plain but as the visitor ascends from this plain, he finds himself in the direction of either hill or the other, in the midst of a country which is broken and undulating but not mountainous The streets are laid out with a view to health, and are generally wide and well shaded with trees The surface of the city is undulating, and in some parts quite hilly, affording excellent drainage Water can be found in the joints of the city [illegible] which the town is supplied [illegible] Other portions are [illegible] by steam or [illegible] The most of the private residences are [illegible] or [illegible] with a timber [illegible] The location is healthy, and the climate [illegible] The corporation boundary is [illegible] until you reach a few miles north of Marietta 21 miles north of Atlanta including Dallas lying a little north of Stone Mountain A few miles north of this runs the Allatoona Mountains North and parallel with the river from the city to Dalton the surface is [illegible] broken and constitutes the best grain and grazing portion of Georgia Cass county is said to be the wealthiest in the State

When the writer passed through this country no army had ever [illegible] but half the land under cultivation Fences and buildings are going to ruin in all the little towns the stores and hotels are closed Travel from morning until night is [illegible] and a well to do man save some groceries dealer and tailor Husbands and sons have all gone to the war Nothing remains to stay but the old men and women and children many of them [illegible] The cattle and all fear that they shall not be allowed to harvest the wheat they have planted Most of their servants had been run off since planting time to south western Georgia for fear they might [illegible] their own armies have all been arrested, doubtless what Johnston left Sherman has taken

CONDITION OF THE CITY AND ITS DEFENCES

The city is laid out in a circle two miles in diameter, in the centre of which is the passenger depot from which radiate railroads to every quarter of the Confederacy On the north side of the depot is a park enclosed and ornamented with trees and flowering shrubs Opposite the three various sides are situated the principal hotels In the business portion of the city are many fine blocks of buildings Before the war the stores were mostly filled with consignments of goods from the large cities of the North and North west for the supply of the cotton regions Now the city is one vast storehouse Here are located the machine shops of the principal railroads the most extensive rolling mill in the South foundries pistol and lock factories, etc, etc In addition the Government have works for casting shot and shell, making gun carriages, cartridges, caps, shoes, boots, clothing, etc, etc

Encircling the city is a line of rifle pits nine miles in length and about 30 inches high upon slight eminences At nearly regular intervals there are planted 12 or 14 batteries said to be mounted with condemned guns! The fortifications were constructed as a defence from raids and for the year past have been manned with a small force It is not generally supposed that Johnson will attempt to make a stand in the city

In 1856, Atlanta contained 15 000 inhabitants, increased since by refugees and Government officials to at least 20 000 As the route from any one point of the Confederacy to any other naturally leads through Atlanta, its streets are literally crammed with soldiers and drays, Sundays not excepted The only exception was a few weeks since when Gen Johnson sent Gen Wright with two regiments, down to clean them out These Wright did not get the conscript officer took, including all males without distinction from 17 to 50 years of age He detailed some farmers, mechanics cripples and invalids, to work their own farms provided they gave bonds and security to give to the Government a certain quantity of bacon to the hand, and to sell all their surplus produce to the Government at a stipulated price to mechanics were to work on Government contracts or for parties having contracts, cripples and invalids for Quartermaster's clerks and guard duty

VALLANDIGHAM —The New York Tribune takes this view of Vallandigham's value as a citizen of Ohio

C L Vallandigham has returned from Dixie via Canada to Ohio and has been chosen a delegate to the Chicago Convention We regret to see some Administration journals urge his rearrest and re banishment We hope not He is a blind partisan of McClellan, and is needed at Chicago to prevent the nomination of a fighting General who believes in the war for the Union Better let him alone He will do good there His running for Governor last year was worth fifty thousand votes to the Unionists of Ohio Can't we get him on the Copperhead ticket as Vice President?

The following was posted in his house, a few days since by a Poughkeepsie business man

"HEADQUARTERS, HOUSE OF —

General Orders No 1 —Julia Until the price falls, no more butter will be used in our family JAMES"

He had hardly reached his counting house when a special messenger handed him this

"James Until butter is reinstated, no more tobacco will be used in this house JULIA, Chief of Staff"

It is said that butter won

NO NEUTRALITY —The following address by the Union Vedette to the citizens of Mormondom, is applicable to this region, as well

Citizens of Utah be not deceived there is no such thing as neutrality in the present contest, and those knowing your inherent loyalty, would fain intimate that you have "nothing to do with the present war," know full well whenever they say so, that they lie most egregiously. Neither you nor they can stand aloof 'He that is not with the Government, is against it,' and the course of all is, and has been marked during the present contest with a view to a day speedily coming, when due reward will be meted out to each and every one

From January 1, to January 30, 1864, 17, 000 passengers arrived at San Francisco by sea, and 8,860 left, making a gain of population in six months of 9,028 Of Chinese, 1, 119 arrived, and 1,333 left, showing a decrease of 134 in that delectable population 14 847 people have come here by way of Panama, and 6,454 left by that route The average cost of passage from San Francisco to the East is, say $150 per head According to this the steamships have in six months received $966,000 from passengers bound for the East —Marysville Appeal

FAILURE OF THE AMENDMENT —A short time since we announced that the proposed amendment to the Constitution to abolish and forever prohibit slavery in the United States had been adopted by the requisite majority of Congress The announcement is now made that the bill failed in the House, needing eleven more votes. The defeat of the measure had its effect upon the reconstruction plan which passed Congress and was legalized by the Proclamation of the President One way or another the people want slavery reached, so that the end of the war will be the end of its course — Ipse!

JURORS DRAWN —The sheriff and County Clerk have drawn the following names of citizens of this county, to serve as jurors at the August term of the County Court F E Risley mechanic S W Morgat laborer M Beaby, laborer Thos Burlaborer B P Cardwell, artist Levi Lamfarmer A J Butler hatter, E C Potter farmer J H Lang farmer Thos H Stallard, farmer H Parker farmer, A Wall merchant

JOHNSON DRIVEN INTO THE DEFENSES OF ATLANTA.

New York, July 20 —The Herald's Washington special says it is reported in official circles generally believed that Scott is last resigned his position as Secretary of War The unpleasant [illegible] are to be the quarrels which grew out of the rebel attack on Washington Blair charges incompetency and cowardice upon Stanton and Halleck's feeble want of management during the raid Among the candidates mentioned to succeed Stanton are Senator John Sherman, and Gen Schuyler The burning of Postmaster Blair's house by the rebels had [illegible] other than Gabriel compliments

The Herald's Fortress Monroe correspondent says the enemy are attempting to blockade James river A flag of truce boat was opened on Friday at Dutch Gap, below City Point, compelling her return to Bermuda Hundred Guns Fort and Butler shortly after ran these batteries, the boat narrowly escaping a Whitworth ball

The Tribune says We learn from sources entitled to credit that Gen Hunter has commanded to be relieved of the command of the Department of West Virginia in consequence of all his available troops having been ordered to report to Gen H G Wright, who is in charge of the column pursuing the rebel forces under Gen Early, recently engaged in the invasion of Maryland

Officers of high military positions here to night express themselves satisfied that a large portion of Johnson's army has gone to reinforce Gen Lee in Virginia, and that Atlanta will fall into our hands without a struggle. The movement of Johnston's troops to Virginia, is thought to have begun immediately after the battle of Kenesaw Mountain.

The Tribune special dispatch says The friends of Gen Hunter are confident the General was correct in quitting Shenandoah valley and returning for supplies up Kanawha Valley They point to the fact that the return march down the Shenandoah to Staunton was followed by the raid on from Lynchburg to Waynesboro, and Hunter with his whole command must there or have been cut off, destroyed or captured, had such a movement been attempted Gen Grant is understood to sustain this view of the case and places the blame of the recent unchecked invasion of Maryland partly on the Washington War Office but chiefly on the people of Maryland, who did not furnish militia force of their own for the protection of the State.

NEW YORK, July 19 —The Post's Washington special says that Secretary Fessenden will soon issue proposals for a more extensive loan than fifty millions He reports that the confidence felt in the Government by the bankers of New York is among the most gratifying features of his visit to that place

It also says we learn that Secretary Fessenden will put a loan of a hundred millions on the market

PHILADELPHIA, July 19 —The damage done to the railroad has been fully repaired The trains are running regularly to and from the city of Washington

The Army of the Potomac correspondent of the Press says that the artillery fight of the 16th lasted two hours when our shells burst directly over the rebel embrasures, destroying their cannon and forcing them to retire They lost six guns

The breast works lately occupied by the enemy barring our advance towards Petersburg, he caused been destroyed

FORTRESS MONROE July 18 —Our men, as fast as they are captured by the enemy are removed to Georgia Privates to Andersonville, officers to Macon

The Richmond Enquirer of the 16th has the following

ATLANTA, July 14.—Two brigades of the Yankee cavalry crossed the Chattahoochie at Moore's bridge, nine miles north last night They were met by Armstrong's brigade of cavalry, driven back and the bridge burned

No change of the situation in front The enemy using artillery across the river occasionally

CHARLESTON, July 19 —The enemy have evacuated Johnson's Island It is noticed that in its parts are quite busy moving troops chiefly to Morris Island The bombardment of Sumter is still kept up

LOUISVILLE July 19 —The steamer St Louis hence to Nashville, laden with Government stores was burned yesterday by the guerillas The sailors rest on the Cumberland

Four rebel prisoners have been sent from our military prison to Mitchellsville and Clarksville Tenn to be shot in retaliation for the murder of two Union men near those places

MEMPHIS, July 18 —We are indebted to the officers of General Washburne's staff for the following

On the 5th of July, Gen Washburne sent a force of infantry, cavalry and artillery to the [illegible] Tenn, under Maj Gen A J Smith with Brig Gens Mower and Grierson, with instructions to pursue Forrest, bring him to bay fight and whip him The orders were to pursue him to Columbus Miss, if they did not overtake him this side of that point

A dispatch from Smith to Washburn received to day says I have met Lee Forrest and Walker at Lupelo county, Mississippi, and whipped them badly on three different days Our loss is small in comparison to that of the rebels I bring back every thing in good order

A correspondent has since arrived at La Grange reports the enemy's loss at 2,500 and their defeat as overwhelming It is also stated by persons who have been in the habit of the army that the rebel Gen Faulkner and Col Forrest were killed Gen Forrest was wounded in the foot and his horse with his equipments captured

From other sources we learn that Smith met Forrest near Pontotoc, Miss supposed on Wednesday and the 14th and fought that day also Thursday and Friday driving him before Lupelo where [illegible] Sunday and Monday the rebels in force 2,000

Washington, July 19 —Sherman announces on the 18th having previously crossed the Chattahoochie with his whole army He had advanced five miles south of the river and occupied Buck Head creek This advance was made without resistance except that skirmishing with rebel rear [illegible] above necessarily forces Johnston into the defences of Atlanta and places that city within range of Sherman's guns

Sufficient not to recommend the Chattahoochie Sherman has crossed his troops in clearing up a country not unimportant to the rebels

Chicago, July 20 —A letter from Sherman's army says the 14th and 12th Corps have been consolidated, forming the 20th Corps, under Hooker

On motion, the Ordinance was re-committed to the Committee.

The bills of F. N. Fisher for $8 75; H. Campbell for $2 00; and Jo. Teal, for rent of Engine House No. 3, for $40 00, were ordered paid.

The bills of the City Surveyor, C. W. Burrage for $749 00, and the Times office for $18 00, were referred.

Ordinance number 152, providing for the grading of Main Street, was taken from the table, read a third time and passed.

On motion the Chief Engineer's report was ordered to be printed in the DAILY OREGONIAN.

A resolution to authorize Committee on Streets and Public property, to contract for the building of a sewer on Columbia street, in accordance with the plan of the City Surveyor, provided the cost thereof will not exceed the sum of $500 00, laid over under the rule.

An Ordinance providing for the punishment of any one who shall wilfully cut, deface or injure the trees in the Public Square or any other public property, was read second time and laid over under rule.

JUVENILE VAGABONDS.—There are few cities of its size and age, to furnish a more revolting record of juvenile depravity than San Francisco. Up to the present time, Portland has had comparatively little to do with her youth, but the present indications are that we will soon have as expert and degraded a gang of thieves in our midst as a big city.—Night before last, Deputy Marshal Townsend discovered a party of small boys from seven to nine years old, sleeping in a cracker crate on one of the wharves on the river. They had run away from home during the day and had it all arranged for a good time. Although rather young, they will, unless arrested and watched by their parents, become accomplished and well qualified candidates for the State Prison. If boys have no responsible guardians at home the city should take care of and train them to earn honest livelihoods.

WHO DON'T WAIT RUN THE WAGON.—A farmer residing near the river, came to the city yesterday with a load of vegetables, and while waiting for the ferry boat on his return home, he unhitched his yoke of oxen from the wagon, and drove them to the river bank to drink. In the mean time our friend, on account of the hot weather (?) got "dry" himself, and concluded to visit the next bar-room, to partake of a little "fire-water," Imagine the astonishment of the owner of the team, when on his return to the ferry landing, he found his oxen had taken to the river and safely swam across to the opposite shore—carrying the yoke with them.

WARM WEATHER.—For the past few days the sun has sent its heat direct through a clear sky down upon the earth in this State, and caused complaint from irreverent persons who cannot see any wisdom in the ways of Providence where their personal comfort is temporarily disturbed. We learn that it has been very hot in the interior; at the Dalles the thermometer indicating 92° in the shade. We are informed that on Tuesday, quite large apples were found upon the trees of an orchard in this town. Yesterday, however, the temperature was much more agreeable to those who pursue active lives.

TREASURE.—Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Messenger brought the sum of $40,000 in treasure, as Express freight besides there was a large sum in the hands of the passengers which arrived on the Wilson G. Hunt—most of it being in gold dust, and will no doubt go to San Francisco for coinage, increasing additional risks and expressage. There is no use commenting on this item. Give the State of Oregon credit as regards its mineral resources and soon our jealous contemporaries will hush.

COUNT TO BE ABATED.—A number of respectable citizens, residing at East Portland, slightly tinctured of a nuisance in the vicinity of their places of residence in the shape of an Indian Wigwam. In days long past, it was quite a natural thing for the dusky savage to inhabit our shores—not as in this case—with a few frail aboriginal females, supported by a number of cultus white men who carry on their revelry by night, to such an extent as to be a great annoyance to the neighborhood.

A FRACAS.—A bit of a row occurred yesterday on the corner of Front and Washington streets, between two citizens, growing out of the reported removal of a sick female from the house of her employer. We have taken some pains to arrive at the correctness of the first report, but are convinced that no wrong has been done to the girl in question. She was gently conveyed in an Express wagon at her own request, to the house designated by her. The matter will undergo an investigation before the Recorder this morning.

RUN OVER.—Last evening, as a team of spanking grays were about turning the corner of Taylor and Front streets, a youngster playing in the road was run over, but without injury. The boy had ample time to get out of the way, but instead of doing so, kept ahead of the horses in such a manner as to prevent their being guided to either side without danger of knocking him down. Parents are often responsible for such accidents than drivers.

CHOICE MUSICAL INSTRUMENT.—Among other attractive and valuable articles to be offered for sale to-morrow by Mr. A. B. Richardson, our accomplished city Auctioneer, is a magnificent Automatic music box, which executes ten different and very sweet tunes, and is admirably calculated to ornament a mantle as well as harmonize family discords. "Children cry for em."

OVERBOARD.—Sundry b(u)oys appeared in the river last evening in front of the O. S. N. Co's wharf, and when we inquired how they came there, we were informed by parties who are supposed to know, that they had been thrown overboard from a steamer, and the lagging, eddying tendency of the water had prevented them from floating off.

PROVOST MARSHAL.—Col. English, of the 1st Regt., Washington Territory Infantry, arrived last evening from Walla Walla, to assume the position of U. S. Assistant Provost Marshal General for Oregon, Washington and Idaho, vice Major McLean, resigned.

ANOTHER RUNAWAY.—Quite an excitement was caused on First street, yesterday, by the running away of a span of horses attached to a buggy containing two gentlemen. No damage done.

Sanitary Festival.—The Ladies' Sanitary Aid Society will have an ICE CREAM FESTIVAL on Friday evening, July 22d, at the Baptist Church, at which time contributions of CAKE, FRUIT and FLOWERS will be thankfully received by the Committee, who will be in attendance at the Church from 9 A. M. until 3 P. M., to receive such articles.

Arrangements have been made for music and short addresses, &c., and we trust it is hoped that the occasion may be a pleasant one for those who may favor us with their presence.

Inability to Sleep.—After the fatigues of the day's labor, how refreshing and necessary is a quiet sleep! Yet how many are unable to enjoy it! To such, whether the cause be nervous irritability, disordered digestion, or insufficient nutrition, the PERUVIAN SYRUP offers a precious remedy, quieting, strengthening and reorganizing all the powers.

"A Slight Cold," Coughs.—How are aware of the importance of checking a Cough or "slight cold" in its first stage; that which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected, soon attacks the lungs. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" give sure and almost immediate relief. Military Officers and Soldiers should have them, as they can be carried in the pocket and taken as occasion requires.

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.—These Bitters are unitedly acknowledged to be a sure preventive and cure for Fever and Ague, Flatulence, Heaviness of the Stomach, or any other like affection. Their effect upon the system is most miraculous; they give a healthy tone to the system, relieve all morbid matter, and in fact thoroughly cleanse the system of all impurities. In no case has it been known to fail, but on the contrary, new virtues have been found in its use. To those afflicted with any of the above ills of the body, the "Bitters" are offered as a speedy and certain cure. Try them and form your own opinion.—Sold by all Druggists and dealers everywhere.

Periodical Headache—so common in debilitated and marshy countries, Tic Douloureux, that most painful affection of the nerves of the face, are often only attacks of ague in disguise—proceeding from the same noxious influence. Jaundice, Dyspepsia and Diarrhea, are frequently but disguised forms of Intermittent Fever. Even Rheumatism and Epilepsy, often result from the same miasmal cause. For such, Dr. Osgood's Indian Cholagogue is an unfailing remedy. By striking at the root of these affections, it applies with equal certainty, as for the cure of Fever and Ague in its simplest forms.

Imitations are abroad! Be particular to enquire for Dr. Osgood's Indian Cholagogue. Sold everywhere.

WHAT KILLED HIM!

DR. HALL, IN HIS "JOURNAL OF HEALTH," speaking of the death of Washington Irving asks the above question and adds: "He might well have remained with us for a few years to come, had it not been for novice kindly intended, no doubt, but given in thoughtlessness and reckless ignorance.

HE HAD A COLD!

which by some injudicious prescription had been converted into an Asthma. Who gave that prescription or what it was, the outside world may never know." Let me say to Dr Hall that that "prescription" was not for that is an article that does not engender heart disease, nor is it productive of any asthmatic affections. On the contrary it will cure such affections; and as for

COUGHS AND COLDS,

The world never saw a better remedy, and never will, until Nature produces some new ingredient out of which to prepare it. Don't be afraid to use it freely. Mistaken Honor

While a student in the city of Berlin whither I had gone to finish my education I became acquainted with a fellow student, by the name of Jules Langheim From the very first we were friends and we knew it There are some natures that come together as two parts that have been parted We meet in reality as strangers but seemingly as if we had known each other all our lives Each feels as if he had a claim upon the other, and the other upon him This is true relationship—not of body, but of soul—and is much superior to blood as spirits is to matter Our brother in the flesh, born of the same mother, may not be our friend, but he whose inner being blends with ours, can be relied upon in the darkest hour of tribulation

Jules Langheim was worthy of the friendship I gave him—the love I felt for him He was a noble fellow—open, candid, high spirited, and generous to a fault—in every respect the very soul of truth and honor How I loved him, even from the first, and how that love grew by what it fed upon till at length it seemed as if his existence was necessary to mine! as if the world would be a blank without him Often when pursuing our studies together, did I find myself with book neglected, sitting and gazing upon his handsome and manly face—with its broad, high brow, finely chiseled nose, firm set mouth and well rounded chin—and only made conscious of my contemplation, perhaps, by the sudden lifting of his large, deep blue eyes to mine, as if his soul had been touched by the magnetic current passing to and fro between us As a natural consequence of this affinity our intimacy soon became such, that each made a confidant of the other, and revealed his most secret thoughts as freely as ever did devout believer to a father confessor At that time we were both young and ambitious, the great world was before us, we had influential friends and high expectations, and many a bright dream of our supposed golden future did we pursue together, till in fancy we stood on the very summit of fame and happiness Alas and alas! that it was only a dream!

One evening, on returning from the opera, whither I had gone alone—an unusual thing my friend being pre engaged for a party at whist—I found him slowly walking up and down the room, looking very pale, and evidently more disturbed in mind than he wished to have appear

"My dear friend, what is the matter?" was my first eager question

"I fear I have some unpleasant news for you," he said, turning, and throwing himself into a large arm chair "Upon my honor, Frederick Delorme," he continued as I stood half aghast with evil expectations—my soul, as it were, by a kind of presentiment, grasping the future with a shudder—"deeply as I regret what has occurred and is about to happen, I feel it more on your account than my own!"

"Speak Jules!" I cried, "what is it?"

"Over the card table to night I had an altercation with Adolph Bergner; and one word led to another, till at last, in a moment of unguarded passion, I gave him the lie direct"

"Well"

"His friend has called upon me since, and I have referred him to you I did not know what hour you would return, but requested him to drop in at half-past eleven I now wants five minutes of the time"

"Gracious Heaven, Jules, you must not fight!" I exclaimed

"How, as a man of honor, can I avoid it?"

"Can the matter not be settled by mutual friends?"

"I fear not He accused me of cheating, and I called him a liar Until his charge is withdrawn, mine must hold good; and I am much mistaken, if he is the man to permit a reconciliation by any such means"

"But notwithstanding this, my dear friend, you must not fight!" I persisted Think how much more you stake than he He is a mere adventurer, in one sense, with nothing but his life while you have character high hopes, which will be blasted by a duel, even should you escape with life You know our late college regulations will expel you, and the criminal law will "Put us at its mercy!"

"Still what am I to do, my best of friends" said Langheim, with a troubled look "If I decline to fight, I shall be branded as a coward, and never more be able to hold up my head among my comrades and fellow students"

"It is a hard case!" I groaned, "either horn of the dilema is bad enough, Heaven knows, but still, let the result be what it will I must insist that you do not give your adversary a meeting If merely your life was at stake Jules, much as I love you, I would not counsel as I do, but to see your reputation blasted, at the very outset of your bright career, would break my heart No no my friend, there must be no meeting!—you must summon up all your moral courage and refuse to go out!"

Jules Langheim started up, and with pale cheeks knitted brows, and clenched hands, rapidly paced up and down the room, some eight or ten times Then hastily seating himself at his writing desk, he seized a pen, dashed off a few lines, and folded, sealed and superscribed the note

"There, Fred, you have your wish granted to you only, of all men on earth I shall not be disgraced by a duel—there will be no hostile meeting between Bergner and myself When his friend calls, give him that note as your answer, and with that your part in the affair will cease"

I grasped his hand, and, with tears in my eyes, said

"Courage, my noble friend! courage! It is a great sacrifice for you to yield this point to me, I know, but I trust you will be rewarded as you deserve!"

He turned away in great agitation, and at the same moment there came a tap at the door

"It is Sweitzen—Bergner's friend!" he said "I will go out"

He seized his hat, wrung my hand with a nervous grasp, and passed the second in the doorway, with a slight salutation

With Sweitzen my business soon ended I handed him the note for Bergner, and told him the decision of Langheim would be found in that He replied that such a proceeding was irregular—that, being there as representative of the principal, the note, no matter what proposition it contained, should have been addressed to him I rejoined that I believed I had nothing further to say or do in the matter, and the interview abruptly closed

After Sweitzen had gone, I anxiously looked for the return of my friend One, two, three hours passed, and still he did not come I remained up all night, in anxious hope, but he did not return Perhaps I should meet him at the morning prayers! But, no—to my great distress he was not among the assembled students I made many eager inquiries, but no one had seen him

I took a long walk through the city to cool my fevered brain, and was returning to my room, an hour or so later, when some one hurried up behind and tapped me on the shoulder "I turned and confronted a stranger, in the garb of a peasant

'Beg your honor's pardon,' he said, "but might your honor be a student in the college yon?'

'Yes"

'Perhaps your honor might tell me, then how quickest I can find a gentleman named Frederick Delorme

"It is my name I exclaimed, feeling my blood take a fresh leap at the hope of hearing from Jules

It's curious" returned the countryman beginning to unbutton his coat that I should have run after the very gentleman I wanted, to ask him where he might be—ha! ha! Well your honor must know that at daylight this morning, just as I was coming out of my house a gentleman rode upon a panting horse and handing me a letter and ten thalers made me swear to deliver it before night, and thinking it must be something consequential, I ran in snatched a piece of bread and here I be

"Well! well! the letter the letter" cried I

Yes your honor, here it be' returned the man, thrusting his hand into his bosom and bringing it forth

I seized it, recognized the writing, tore it open and read the following, with feelings better imagined than described

October 11, 4 A M

'My dear friend' Forgive me for paining your noble heart for me having concealed from you my real design In declining to fight my adversary I felt that honor demanded from me a proposition requiring at least as great a risk of life at next repetition You remember you said you would permit the risk of life, providing character were not involved I acted on this, and wrote Bergner I would not fight him, but would not fight him but would decide by lot which of the two should put an end to his own existence I followed his friend to his lodgings, and we speedily agreed upon the terms We drew lots, and it was my misfortune to be doomed According to the compact I am to die to-day, before sunset in the little village of Neuf, thirty miles from the capital You will probably find my body at the only inn the place contains. Do not mourn too much for me, my best of friends, and may God help you and forgive me It is my fate, you see! I have made the best disposition I could, in the short time allowed me, of the property I possess and you will find my testament at the notary's / Time presses me I write in haste, with a burning brain You know my feelings toward you, and why attempt the weak expression of words! I will only add, God bless you! God bless you ever! Farewell! Your dying friend,

"JULES LANGHEIM"

On reading this, I was so shocked, so overpowered, so stupefied, that for some minutes I could not act My brain swam, and the letters before me seemed to take the color of blood I roused myself at length, with the hope of being yet in time to save my friend, and darted off like a madman, leaving the countryman starting after me I hurried to the proper authorities, and got permission to use the government post horses In a few minutes more I was on the road to Neuf, the position urging the gallant beasts forward at the extreme speed allowed by law Had the rate even been a mile a minute, I should have fancied it the snail's pace, so eager was I to reach forward and snatch my friend from the jaws of death But our speed was not a mile a minute—scarcely one in five—and hours dragged on, that seemed so many ages, before my straining eyes beheld a small cluster of houses, that the postilion declared was Neuf

"On, for the love of God!" I cried, 'straight to the inn!"

Fatal miscalculation! In my terrible anxiety to reach Neuf, before my friend should put an end to himself, I overlooked the fact that, if living my arrival in such a manner, would attract his attention, and hasten him to the commission of the deed, since it was not his design or desire to have it prevented Had this occurred to me on the route, I should have entered the village in a different manner, and perhaps my friend might having been living now

On reaching the inn, with a thundering clatter, that drew the whole village out to look at us I leaped to the ground seized the astonished landlord, and demanded to know if there was a stranger from Berlin under his roof

"Yes" he answered quickly, catching some of my excitement "a handsome young man—a thief, or robber, may be—or—"

"Quick! quick!" I interrupted, "show me to his room!"

We rushed away together I espied an axe and seized it as I passed On arriving at the room door, and finding it fast, I shouted

"Jules, for the love of God, do nothing rash!" It is I—your friend—Delorme, come to my arms and be saved!"

"Frederik, farewell!" cried a tremulous voice in reply, and at the same moment I heard the sharp report of a pistol

With one blow of the axe I split down the door, and rushed in There lay my friend in the last quiver of life—a ghastly spectacle—shot through the temples! With a shriek of anguish, I threw myself down beside him, and from that time, for several hours I have now no distinct recollection of what took place

Alas and alas! poor Jules Langheim! He was the victim of mistaken honor He went early to his eternal account, and left many friends to mourn his loss, and one, at least, to weep for him through the long years of a since unhappy life

THE PROOFS OF ITS EFFICACY are so numerous that we will state that [illegible] publicly hesitate to give the following as one of the most striking cases of the kind

Extract of a letter from Mr Samuel Pugh, Overseer of the Union Home School for the Children of Volunteers

HOSTETTER MANUFACTORY SEVENTH STREET
NEW YORK August 6 1863

Dear Sir I feel it my duty to inform you that I have been using your Peruvian Syrup for a severe cough which I had for a long time and which had resisted the skill of several physicians I had become very much reduced in flesh and strength and had a hectic fever every night I had used one bottle of your Peruvian Syrup when I found that it was helping me I continued its use until I had used three bottles when I found myself entirely restored to health and strength I have since recommended it to several persons who were afflicted with coughs and colds and in all cases it has given entire satisfaction I have no hesitation in saying that I believe your Peruvian Syrup to be the best medicine for coughs colds and all diseases of the throat and lungs that I have ever used

Yours truly SAMUEL PUGH

From well-known Citizens of Boston.

It would be difficult to find a more respectable firm than that of Messrs Hodges & Smith, who have been selling the Peruvian Syrup for the last two years, and have thereby had an opportunity of knowing the estimation in which it is held by the public

Rev JOHN PIERPONT THOMAS C AMORY,
THOMAS A DEXTER LITTLE HANEY
S H RUNDALL M D JAMES O DUNN
SAMUEL MAY BY THIS WHITTEMORE

Certificate of Dr Hayes.

It is well known that the attention of the Profession in Europe and America has been directed to Protoxide of Iron in the form of Syrup by experiments to ascertain and obtain a combination of Iron with Oxygen which shall not constipate as the Sesquioxide does, but shall be a mild Tonic and Aperient, and thereby supply the deficiency of Iron in the blood, which is the cause of Chlorosis or Green Sickness, and of Anæmia or Poverty of Blood, and of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Debility, Nervousness, Consumption, and many other diseases

The Peruvian Syrup, this day laid before me by HOSTETTER, SMITH & DEAN, is a combination of Protoxide of Iron with Sugar and Orange Flower Water, and is entirely free from any astringent or constipating quality, and is therefore, in my opinion, the best form in which Iron can be administered as a Tonic and Aperient

IODINE WATER.

IODINE WATER IS THE MOST IMPORTANT DISCOVERY of modern chemistry and it is fast coming to over-estimate its influence as a remedial agent Iodine has been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica and many of the most eccentric and practical physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system It is to act upon the

HEART,
LIVER, KIDNEYS,
DIGESTIVE ORGANS AND GLANDULAR SYSTEM,

and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation it remains almost unknown Dr Henry Ardoe a physician and chemist of New York, after years of patient labor and experiment discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve

PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER.

without a solvent This consummation is by the scientific world is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr J R Chilton of this city and Prof Booth U S Mint Philadelphia The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the Faculty that it was published in the Medical Journals and its use recommended to practitioners (see 'American Medical Monthly,' July 6, 1859 page 7)

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of Scrofula in all its manifold forms Consumption, Cancer Heart, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Rheumatism Neuralgia, Nervous Affections, Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, etc

AS A TONIC

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the body is the result of the employment of Iodine The patient recovers flesh strength and color hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full strong and florid
